Disability Resource Center

If you have a documented disability that may require assistance, you will need to contact the LES for coordination in your academic accommodations. Disability Service is located within the Learning Enhancement Services (LES), in the Reynolds Student Services Complex, Room 137. The phone number is (702) 895-0866 or TDD (702) 895-0652.

Academic Dishonesty

Any attempt to cheat on an examination or to present someone else’s work as your own for a written assignment will be subject to the most severe penalty the University allows.

Religious Holidays and Absences

If you miss a class or an exam because of a religious holiday that you observe, you will have the opportunity to make up the missed work. You must notify the instructor at least 2 weeks prior to the examination.

Official Extracurricular Activity

If the date of any examination conflicts with an official extracurricular activity please notify the instructor at least 2 weeks prior to the examination and provide official written notification no less than 1 week prior to the examination.

Help Tips

For those who have not taken a course in constitutional law, you should read pp. 3-126 to learn how the U.S. Supreme Court operates in our political system.

Briefing Cases

See pp.717 on how to brief cases. The glossary has a list of legal terms with which you should be familiar.

Examination and Grading Policies

There will be three examinations including a final. The examinations are tentatively scheduled to be given at the end of the three five-week periods. The final is not comprehensive. Examinations will take both essay and objective forms. Students will be graded on examination scores and oral participation. Also, students will be required to make oral presentations on the cases and articles from time to time.
