

Jonathan Seigle
VP, MICROS Casino & Resort Division

Jonathan Seigle is vice president of the MICROS Casino & Resort Division based in Las Vegas, Nevada. He is responsible for sales, implementation, and support for MICROS hospitality management solutions to major casino and resort clients. Seigle joined MICROS in 2002. Previously he served as MICROS' casino sales manager for food and beverage point-of-sale. He also helped launch into general distribution MICROS' hosted business intelligence product mymicros.net, which today is widely deployed in multi-unit gaming companies, chain restaurants, and other MICROS clients. Seigle began his hospitality industry career at age 18 as a bellman, valet, and limousine driver at various resorts in Orange County, California. After earning a Bachelor's Degree in Political Science from Yale University, he held various sales and marketing positions with technology companies including Ingram Micro, Touchstone Software, Miro Displays, Inc., and Cisco Systems. Immediately prior to joining MICROS, he was director of sales for SeatAdvisor, a leading live event ticketing system developer. Seigle is married with three daughters