About Journalism and Media Studies

The Hank Greenspun School of Journalism and Media is a media unit within the Greenspun College of Urban Affairs. The School is committed to the proposition that enhancing society requires an innovative, interdisciplinary, and rigorous understanding of communication media.

Our mission is to prepare students to become thoughtful scholars and researchers and effective professionals in broadcast and print journalism, integrated marketing communication, public relations, and media studies. Faculty engage students in a supportive environment of scholarship and service, stressing theoretical and practical knowledge, critical thinking and social responsibility. The Hank Greenspun School of Journalism and Media Studies offers a Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degree.

Graduate Certificate Program

The Hank Greenspun School of Journalism & Media Studies offers a graduate program of study leading to a Master of Arts degree. Courses of study are designed to engage research in diverse career arenas such as human resources, politics, advertising, education, public relations, broadcasting, and social services, as well as for students who aspire to continue their education in doctoral programs.

Professional Associations

Major professional associations dedicated to Journalism and Media Studies offer membership benefits such as news about the latest research and job offerings. Students are encouraged to get involved with these organizations early on!
