

Doctor of Philosophy Degree in Kinesiology

The Ph.D. in Kinesiology consists of a minimum 66 credit hours beyond the Master of Science degree to include the following areas:

Content Knowledge (18 Credits)

Two Nine-Hour Cognate Areas (18 Credits)

Research Methodology (15 Credits)

Culminating Experience of Prospectus (3 Credits) and Dissertation (12 credits)

Individual programs of study may exceed minimum requirements and specific course work will vary depending on particular interest. Students must maintain a GPA of 3.00 or higher for all course work taken at the doctoral level.