SCENE STUDY: Contemporary
THTR 773

◆ COURSE DESCRIPTION/LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Scene Study: Contemporary is a studio scene study course which prepares the professional acting student for script analysis, rehearsal and performance of scene work drawn from the contemporary and recent American stage repertory (1970-present). The course focuses on using the playscript as a blueprint for expressive action, form, language, character, and style.

◆ REQUIRED TEXT
- Fool For Love by Sam Shepard
- Actions: The Actor’s Thesaurus by Marina Caldarone and Maggie Lloyd-Williams

◆ COURSE POLICIES:

- Because of the experiential nature of actor training, attendance at all classes is mandatory. Any absence represents a missed portion of the intended course of study; and consequently, will result in a reduction of the final grade. Any student encountering a special circumstance where a significant amount of class will be missed, should contact the instructor immediately. If such a special circumstance does arise, it may be necessary for the student to drop the course. The instructor reserves the right to issue a grade of failure to any student who misses more than three class periods.

- Class will start on time. Three tardies are considered the equivalent of one absence. (see above)

- No food or drink (other than water) will be permitted in the classroom. Please keep the space clean.

- The use of mobile phones, pagers, laptop computers, wearable technology, and any other electronic devices is not permitted in the classroom—please turn them off completely during class.

- On days when the class doesn’t meet, it is expected that you will be working on the material explored in class both terms of completing homework assignments, and in NCT productions in which you are cast. The NCT is a lab for further study and exploration of our studio classwork. Student progress within class projects and from project to project will be an important factor in determining the final grade. In short, you must practice the work between classes and arrive to class prepared to explore and review any work covered prior to the current day’s session.

- As members of the theatre faculty, We will have the opportunity to observe and evaluate your work in NCT productions. Consequently, this work is an extension of the classroom. Your performance work in department productions, as well as the professionalism of your demeanor and general attitude, are not outside the auspices of this course, and can have a role in determining your grade in the course and/or your status in the MFA Acting Program.

◆ GRADING POLICY:

Your grade will be based on the quality of your performance in the following areas:

- the quality of your participation;
- the level at which you master the material presented;
● the manner in which your attitude and commitment effect your ability to approach and participate in the intended course of study;
● the quality of your work in relation to your peers;
● the significance of your growth throughout the course of the semester;
● the quality with which you complete specific assignments both performance and written;
● the quality of your performance in any in-class performance project.

The letter grade of “A” will be issued to students whose performance in the above areas is deemed by the instructor to be excellent.

The letter grade of “B” will be issued to students whose performance in the above areas is deemed by the instructor to be very good.

The letter grade of “C” will be issued to students whose performance in the above areas is deemed by the instructor to be satisfactory.

The letter grade of “D” will be issued to students whose performance in the above areas is deemed by the instructor to be poor.

The letter grade of “F” will be issued to students whose performance in the above areas is deemed by the instructor to be unacceptable.

Plus and minus grades may be included in the assigning of student grades.
