Opening Letter

“Though we tremble before uncertain futures may we meet illness, death and adversity with strength may we dance in the face of our fears.” — Gloria Anzaldúa

Latinidad has been a part of UNLV since its creation. There are many amazing individuals that have been a part of UNLV’s Latinx comunidad over the years and you are now part of a legacy rooted in perseverance. This guide will give you a glimpse of the dynamic and beautiful Latinx comunidad at UNLV and in Las Vegas. In addition, this guide includes: a staff/faculty directory, a RSO directory, scholarships, Immigrant Resources, Annual Latinx events, and many more resources!

Thank you to all of those who have contributed to the creation of the #YoSoyUNLV: Latinx Resource Guide. Special thanks to Genaro Lopez Baez, Nicole Servellon, Cece Carodine, Mayra Arzate, Zulma Acero, Aaron Ibarra, Madison Mato, Sarah Courter, and Kimberly Lu. Without all of your joint work this guide would not have been possible.

As you read this guide, remember, you are not alone at UNLV. As a Hispanic Serving Institution the Latinx community makes up about 31% of the undergraduate student population and about 18% of the graduate student population. The Latinx comunidad is vast and vibrant at UNLV and you are a part of that.

We have been UNLV | Fuimos UNLV
We are UNLV | Somos UNLV
We will continue to be UNLV | Vamos a seguir siendo UNLV
#YoSoyUNLV

-Alex Romero (He/Him/El), Latinx Program Coordinator

We acknowledge that we are on the ancestral lands of the Nuwuvi, Southern Paiute People. We acknowledge the Indigenous People of the lands where UNLV now stands – and recognize that these have always been places of teaching and learning. I wish to pay respect to their Elders – past, present and emerging – and acknowledge the important role Nuwuvi, Southern Paiute People, continue to play within the UNLV community. This acknowledgement and the centering of Native peoples is a start as we move forward for many years to come.

Originally a Mexican American farm worker, Chavez became the best known Latino American civil rights activist.

Dolores Huerta
She has worked to improve social and economic conditions for farm workers and to fight discrimination. Dolores also created the Agricultural Workers Association (AWA) in 1960 and co-founded what would become the United Farm Workers (UFW).

Frida Kahlo
Frida Kahlo de Rivera (Jul 06, 1907 - Jul 13, 1954) was a Mexican artist who painted many portraits inspired by the nature and artifacts of Mexico. She is an icon for feminism and Latinx heritage because of how she openly was herself which was someone who defied gender norms, openly bisexual, painted real women and their experiences.

Modesto Cepeda
Modesto Cepeda was born in Puerto Rico in 1938, and though the island's rich percussion tradition of bomba and plena were part of his childhood, he realized that not everyone grew up connected to this Afro-Puerto Rican heritage. So he started the School of Bomba and Plena for children from low-income families, to keep this folkloric music alive and well.
Bamby Salcedo
Bamby Salcedo was born and raised in Guadalajara, Mexico with her single mother and abusive stepfather. As a child she faced several amounts of sexual abuse from her stepfather, use of drugs, and street violence. As she was surrounded by her LGBTQ friends they influenced her to become her true self. After her transcendent rise, she is now recognized and honored locally and nationally for her activism and leadership she has embraced for the Lainx/Transgender community.

María Teresa Ferrari
Maria Teresa Ferrari was born October 11, 1887 in Buenos Aires, Aregentina. Her positions included being a educator, physician, and women's rights activist. She was the first female university professor in Latin America and one of the first to be allowed to teach medicine. As someone who studied radiation therapy for uterine tumors and developed a vaginoscope for gynecological purposes, Ferrari was a pioneering researcher in women's health.

Máxima Acuña
Máxima Acuña is an environmental activist in Peru who tackles rich mining companies from expanding into land owned by local families. Since 2010, she has fought to keep Newmont, a Colorado-based company, from building on her family's property. Because of her ongoing battle against the mining industry, Acuña was awarded the Goldman Environmental Prize in 2016 for her efforts to protect the earth on a grassroots level.

Xiuhztecatl Martínez
Xiuhztecatl Martínez is a self-described "indigenous environmental eco-hip hop artist and activist." Despite his young age, Martínez has already garnered years of experience in environmental activism. He has spoken at the UN and held TED talks. In 2013, he was recognized as a "Youth Changemaker of the Year" by President Obama.
Julio Salgado

Julio Salgado (born September 1, 1983) is a gay Mexican-born artist who grew up in Long Beach, California. Enrique Nieto

Enrique Nieto is the secretary of UNLV’s Student Nutrition and Dietetic Association (SNDA), which is an on-campus organization that promotes nutritional wellness throughout Las Vegas. Growing up, he became aware of the negative health rate within the Latino community, which encouraged him to major in nutrition sciences so that he could help the community live a healthier lifestyle.

Ms. Aye Vee

Ashley Vargas, also known by her stage name Ms. Aye Vee, is a Las Vegas native who has garnered popularity through her raw storytelling and poetry.
