Master of Science in Applied Economics and Data Intelligence
Program Handbook

Welcome
The MS in Applied Economics and Data Intelligence combines skills in programming, data gathering, and data management from courses in the Lee Business School’s Management Entrepreneurship, and Technology (MET) department, with skills in economic reasoning and statistical analysis skills taught in graduate-level Economics courses. The program is designed to attract students with focused career choices that require core competence in programming and constructing data systems with analytical and statistical skills.

This is a joint program between the Economics and Management, Entrepreneurship and Technology departments within the Lee Business School.

Purpose
The purpose of this handbook is to provide program-specific information that is not found in the UNLV Graduate Catalog. Program Requirements
Program requirements regarding admission, coursework, and culminating experience are found in the graduate catalog.

Advisory Committee Guidelines
Four Graduate Faculty members comprise an advisory committee: three from the student’s department and one graduate faculty member from another department to serve as the Graduate College representative. Occasionally, it is permissible for an additional graduate faculty member(s) to be placed on the committee. The committee chair and outside Graduate College Representative must both have full graduate faculty status. The two additional advisory committee members and any additional members may have either associate or full graduate faculty status.

Degree Program Benchmarks
Students in the program are required to complete one of the following options as a culminating experience in the program.

1. Professional Paper: A piece of work demonstrating the use of research methods and presentation of research results. Students will form a graduate committee to guide this process, and under the direction of their chair, complete an approved project that demonstrates their understanding of economic modeling and data analytics.

2. Client Project: Students will work as individuals or in small teams with a client in the valley that will serve as a project mentor during the course of the semester. Students will be required to work over 250 hours on a project based on some current needs for the organization. The project will culminate in a report that will be shared with the organization, which will summarize their findings, and provide recommendations, based on the scope of the project. This report will be submitted as part of the course (MIS 781) to provide credit for the work.

Professional Code of Ethics/Discipline Guidelines
UNLV Graduate College policy regarding academic integrity can be found in the graduate catalog.

Annual Review Procedures
Each winter break and early spring term, graduate students are required to complete the Graduate Student Individual Development Plan (IDP) form. The review covers the prior calendar year and assesses student progress, and it establishes reasonable goals for the year ahead. Reported student data is shared with students’ graduate coordinators and advisors to foster opportunities for discussion about students’ strengths and weaknesses, accomplishments and next requirements, and mentoring plans so that students know what they need to do in order to progress successfully through their programs in a timely manner. Students who are graduating are also required to complete the form in order to record their achievements since the data is also used to track metrics related to the annual productivity of all students. This survey will be sent by the Graduate College to the student’s Rebelmail account. The review covers the prior calendar year and assesses student progress while setting goals for the year ahead.

Probation
If a student fails to successfully progress in their degree program, their department/school will recommend that the student be placed on probation by the Graduate College. Students on probation may be dismissed/separated from their program for failing to successfully meet the conditions of their probation by the deadline provided. Please see the Probation and Separation section of the Graduate Catalog for more information.
