Tenure and Promotion

- Tenure and Promotion are two vitally important processes for academic faculty.

- Conditions of Tenure: “The major objectives of tenure are to provide a faculty committed to excellence and to provide a substantial degree of security to those persons who have exhibited excellent abilities, sufficient to convince the University of Nevada community that their expected services and performances in the future justify the privileges afforded by tenure.” (NSHE Code 3.1.2).
- Tenure at UNLV is typically awarded at the end of an extensive process of review and evaluation.

- Promotion to several possible ranks for non-tenure track faculty and promotion to full professor for tenured faculty, is a recognition of excellence and achievement, awarded following extensive review and evaluation.
Tenure and Promotion- UNLV Academic Faculty

- Nontenured Faculty
  Ranked academic faculty who are in tenure-track positions but have not completed their probationary period.
  - Assistant Professor
  - Associate Professor

- Nontenure-track Faculty
  Academic faculty (designated Rank 0) are not eligible for tenure but are eligible for promotion.
  - Lecturers
  - Faculty-in-Residence (Assistant, Associate Professor)
  - Research Faculty (Assistant, Associate Professor)
Tenure and Promotion

- Begins with Hiring Process: With Excellent Hires, Everyone is Potentially ‘Tenurable’ & ‘Promotable’

- Fostered in Mentorship and Evaluation

- At UNLV - No Quotas/Barriers

- One of the Most Important Faculty Governance Responsibilities

- Process of Ensuring Comparable Rigor (Equity), Confidentiality and Consistency in the Review Process
Tenure and Promotion

How do I learn about the tenure and promotion process at UNLV?

- By speaking with your peers and familiarizing yourself with the documents surrounding the process and available resources on the Office of Faculty Affairs (OFA) website

- Specifically, Tenure & Promotion website: https://www.unlv.edu/ofa/processes/tenure-promotion

- By speaking with tenured, tenure-track faculty within your department/college/unit

- By speaking with the Faculty Senate, Faculty Senators, UNLV Tenure & Promotion Committee Representatives, or Department/College Tenure & Promotion Committee Members

- Attend one of the Tenure and Promotion Forum meetings via Zoom

- You may also direct your questions to the OFA, particularly about how to navigate the process
How Do Applicants Apply?

- Applications are reviewed in the Fall semester (Oct-Dec).

- To begin, applicants notify their department chair/unit director or dean of their intent and begin planning for the submission of their application.
  Plan for this notification early (Jan-Mar) in the prior Spring semester, since the application dossier will have to be assembled, external letters of review need to be solicited and included in the final dossier.

- Applicants use UNLV Folio to apply for tenure and/or promotion.
  - This is UNLV’s activity reporting system for academic faculty.
  - Faculty will already be familiar with UNLV Folio from their annual reviews.
When Do Faculty Apply for Tenure?

- Candidates wishing to apply for tenure are expected to be in rank for 6 years of employment.
  - NSHE Code – Probationary period is no more than 7 years; if tenure is denied, a 1-year terminal contract follows. Year 6 is generally the decision year.

- UNLV Tenure Flexibility
  - Provides the option to request early tenure or an extension. Please review the Flexibility of Pre-Tenure Probationary Period Policy.
  - Faculty may only apply for tenure once so a choice to apply early should be made very carefully.
  - Probationary period may be extended for family medical leave or other circumstances (e.g. COVID-19) approved by the President.
When Do Faculty Apply for Promotion?

- UNLV Bylaws: Candidates wishing to apply for promotion are expected to be in rank for 5 years prior to applying for promotion.

- Early applications may be considered in “exceptional circumstances” (see UNLV Bylaws Chapter 3, Section 16)

OFA Resources for Tenure and Promotion

Tenure & Promotion Guide

Updated annually in January

Includes information about tenure and promotion, promotion to full professor, and nontenure-track promotion for candidates, administrators, and reviewers.
Which policy documents dictate the tenure and promotion process?

The tenure and promotion process is outlined in two important documents:

- Title 2, Chapter 3 of the NSHE Board of Regents Handbook* (“the NSHE Code”)
- UNLV Bylaws* (usually called “the Bylaws”).

*Links are provided on the OFA website.
Which Standards are Used for Evaluation?

- Candidates for tenure
  - Unless otherwise negotiated, candidates are evaluated for tenure under the standards in place at the time of hire.
    - In compliance with UNLV Bylaws and the NSHE Code, the unit/college/School will set standards of rigor and assessment procedures for recommendation to tenure.
    - These guidelines will be presented to all tenure-track faculty at time of hire and will be the standard of evaluation for the granting of tenure.

- Candidates for promotion only
  - Includes both nontenure-track faculty applying for promotion, and tenured faculty applying for promotion to Rank IV.
  - Are evaluated under the standards in place at the time of application.
