

UNLV Export Compliance in Research

Review this quick reference guide to see how the Export Compliance Office interacts with certain activities.

If you have questions, please contact the Export Control Officer at Chelsea.Holmes@unlv.edu

Activity	Instructions
Immigration	The Office of International Student & Scholar Compliance (ISSC) manages the immigration process. Individuals must complete the Foreign National Deemed Export Compliance Verification Form (Form I-129) when sponsoring J-1, H-1B, H-1B1, or O-1 visas. The ECO will reach out for more information, if needed.
International Collaboration	Before beginning any international collaboration, contact the Export Control Officer to request a restricted party screening (RPS). This screening checks whether the prospective collaborator appears on a U.S. government restricted or denied party list .
International Travel	Before traveling outside the United States, review the requirements on the International Travel Policy website. Academic and administrative faculty and students traveling to a foreign country for purposes related to their employment or academic fulfillment with the University must submit a UNLV International Travel Registry request at least three weeks before departure.
International Travel Loaner Laptops	To help protect your data and identity while you're abroad, the UNLV Division of Research and the Office of Information Technology offer a Laptop Loaner Program for International Travel.
Export Control Manual	The Export Control Manual is a helpful resource for understanding the export control requirements that affect our university.
Frequently Asked Questions	You can find a list of Frequently Asked Questions on our website .
