

FACULTY DEVELOPMENT OPPORTUNITIES: NOVEMBER 2018

UNLV's Faculty Development events, services and resources are available to all UNLV educators, researchers and other academic professionals. They are provided by multiple campus units working in collaboration, and also by the 2018-2019 Faculty Development Fellows, and they focus on three areas:

- Career development
- Research support
- Teaching development.

Sign up here to receive calendar invitations and information about faculty development events/opportunities. November faculty development opportunities are listed below.

October Faculty Development Highlights:

- More than 80 faculty began meeting in writing groups. Join one now.
- Professor Kat Hertlein shared her top 7 tips for research productivity (see Events Archive)
- Faculty learned to spend less time grading students' work in pedagogically helpful ways (see Events Archive)
- Live-streaming our events allowed faculty to attend from offsite.
- Mentoring Groups learned about steps underway to clarify promotion/tenure/annual review procedures.
- 196 faculty offered advice when we requested feedback! Coming soon as you suggested:
  - college-focused sessions
  - 5-min short videos with advice on teaching, research, career:
    - culturally responsive teaching
    - making the transition from associate to full professor
    - how to document teaching effectiveness
    - best practices for approaching your annual evaluation
