OVERVIEW

The Kenrich Group provides construction-related accounting, cost analysis, engineering, financial and scheduling skills. Our personnel have prepared and analyzed claims, performed schedule delay analysis, provided management consulting services and conducted fraud investigations on behalf of public and private owners, contractors, subcontractors, architects, engineers, sureties, government agencies and other parties. We have analyzed bids, budgets, cost estimates, changed work and the costs of construction, as well as schedule and contract administration records.

Roles and Responsibilities
Your responsibilities as a staff consultant will include project schedule and cost analysis, computer modeling, fact-finding, and document review. Your tasks may include assistance with the preparation and review of construction damage and schedule claims and counter claims (including the use of P6 and Microsoft Project platforms), assistance with the preparation of expert reports, expert testimony and exhibits for trial or settlement negotiations, and involvement in litigation, arbitration or mediation.

Education and Qualifications
Candidates must have a Bachelors or Masters degree in an Engineering discipline (Construction Management and/or Civil Engineering preferred). Candidates must have had a minimum Grade Point Average of 3.2 on a 4.0 scale. Significant travel may be required.

Preferred Skills
Applicants must be highly motivated and possess excellent analytical, organizational, communication and computer skills. Knowledge of Critical Path Method (CPM) concepts and high-level proficiency in Primavera P6 scheduling software is required. Proficiency in Microsoft Office applications, including Excel, Word, and PowerPoint is essential.
