

Katharine Johnson

- Professionalism (50 points): Due to the interactive nature of this course, attendance, reading and active participation are expected. Full class participation by every student ensures a richer experience for everyone. You will demonstrate your professionalism through regular attendance, turning in assignments on-time, contribution to in-class discussion and activities, knowledge of the assigned readings, and communication with your instructor. You will receive half of the points at the mid-semester and half at the end of the semester. This activity addresses UULO 1 and 3.

UULO 1: Intellectual Breadth and Lifelong Learning

- Demonstrate lifelong learning skills, including the ability to place problems in personally meaningful contexts; reflect on one's own understanding; demonstrate awareness of what needs to be learned; articulate a learning plan; and act independently on the plan, using appropriate resources.
- Achieve success in one's chosen field or discipline, including applying persistence, motivation, interpersonal communications, leadership, goal setting, and career skills.

UULO 3: Communication

- Collaborate effectively with others to share information, solve problems, or complete tasks.

Angela Lee Duckworth

The Key to Success: Grit

<https://youtu.be/H14bBuluwB8>

Stanford Resilience Project

Julie Lythcott Haims: On Getting a "D" in Communication

https://youtu.be/7_hhAMqCqt8

Carol Dweck: A Study on Praise and Mindsets

<https://youtu.be/NWv1VdDeoRY>

Student discusses his grade with professor

https://youtu.be/-2Co6_tu808