RE: CALL FOR NOMINATIONS – 2018 UNLV Scholarship of Teaching and Learning Award

Overview:

The Office of the Executive Vice President and Provost is pleased to announce the 2018 Scholarship of Teaching and Learning Award. Presented by the Provost of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas to one individual each year, this award recognizes individuals who have achieved excellence in the scholarship of teaching and learning as demonstrated through research that focuses on evidence-based teaching practices that promote UNLV students' learning.

Eligibility:

Applicants must be members of the UNLV teaching community with at least three years of teaching experience prior to the date of nomination. They must be nominated by a UNLV student, teaching community member, department chair, or dean. Self-nominations will not be accepted. The award recipient will receive $2000. A past recipient is not eligible to receive the award again for a period of five years.

Criteria:

A committee will use the criteria listed below to evaluate applications and select a recipient each year. The award recognizes work that:

1. Engages in the systematic examination of issues about student learning and instructional conditions that promote learning.
2. Documents the use of appropriate methods for investigating and evaluating the impact of teaching practices on student learning.
3. Contributes new questions and/or new knowledge about teaching and learning.
4. Positions the contribution in relation to existing research in the field.
5. Demonstrates public, peer reviewed and critiqued scholarship, and dissemination of findings.
6. Provides data/evidence of the impact of teaching techniques and pedagogies on UNLV students' learning.
7. Offers resources to support other UNLV instructors in adopting this effective practice across academic disciplines.
8. Is recognized by students and/or colleagues.

Requirements:

Complete applications are due by March 13, 2018 at this URL: goo.gl/UdvXQs
