COM 330: Communication and Popular Culture

Summer Session 3
Online Course

Register today at summerterm.unlv.edu

About the Class

This course will explore popular culture texts from a multitude of communication perspectives and frameworks of criticism. The overarching purpose of this class is to interrogate popular culture as a significant site for understanding the personal, social, and political influence that this phenomenon may have in our lives.